Sheila Robertson is a multi-published author with eight books currently available. Her writing genres range from children's picture books to juvenile chapter books to non fiction, and now her first biography. She began her career by writing stories for her younger family members in her early teens. Sheila lives in southern middle Tennessee with her husband, H.L.Robertson, who is also an author.

The story Janice Quick and the abuse that she endured will make you realize how brave this wonderful woman was. Janice lived long enough to see this book published and in the hands of readers. Janice passed away this past weekend which has brought both sadness and joy to those of us who knew her and loved her. You see, 42+ years ago, Janice was shot by her abuser and paralyzed by bullets that remained in her body. Her story is real and honest, just like Janice.

U loved it

This book was wonderful and had me in tears all the way through it. Couldnt hardly put it down. Loved the story

I just finished this book moments ago! It was one of those books you have great difficulty putting down. You feel like you are watching the events that took place as though you were a witness. This book gives you a glimpse into that time frame and the way domestic abuse was treated back then. I suggest this book to anyone who has been physically or emotionally abused by loved ones or experienced both. Though Janice and her children all still have deep scars they have learned to become the best version of themselves. If you know someone in an abusive situation or who has come out of one I strongly suggest this book that teaches the importance of forgiveness for your own peace. I have known Sheila and her husband, Hubert (who is also an excellent author) for many years. You will not meet anyone who is more caring than this couple. If you have young children or grandchildren in your lives check out Sheila's Fairhaven books. They are delightful. I also suggest that you purchase copies of Valleys of the Shadow for your church library and local library if they don't have them. The children's books would be great additions for the libraries as well.

This is one of the best books I have read all year. It is very hard to put down once you start reading. Domestic violence came in mine and my husband lives seven years ago when our 19 year old daughter was 32 weeks pregnant with our first grandchild.. As I read this book I couldn't help but picture this happening to my daughter and her unborn child . She and her son suffered trauma and still struggle to this day. So please if you are in this situation get out before it's too late. You may not be as lucky to survive. Please purchase this book it is a must have.

I purchased the Valleys of the Shadow from Sheila Robertson at the book's release party in Tullahoma TN. I started reading the book before I left the parking lot and didn't want to lay it down. I had to finish it. Sheila Robertson, the author, made me feel as if I went back in time with this family as I read about their lives that were forever changed by violent domestic abuse. If you are in an abusive relationship or know someone who is please read this book. Janice and her family's story is being shared to help you to see the signs and take action.

Although I didn't have the honor of meeting Janice, I have known Sheila for several years and I couldn't wait to read her newest book! While this is very different from what I am used to from Sheila, my boys and I enjoy her June Bug & Kat series, it is a very compelling and heart wrenching story that keeps you engaged from beginning to end. I couldn't put it down, and finished the book in a day and a half. It's a remarkable story and I pray that it touches many lives and help others like Janice for years to come.

When I heard of the passing of Janice Quick and that her biography had been published, I looked it up out of curiosity. I decided it would be a good addition to our church library, so I ordered a copy directly from the author. I could not put it down. It is not the most "polished" book I have ever read, but that is because the voices of the actual people come through. I wish I had had the opportunity to meet this strong, brave woman.
