Vernon Mahabal is the founder and director of The Palmistry Institute in Los Angeles. In 1979 he began formal training in Vedic cosmology, resulting in numerous trips to India. He combines Western astrological palmistry with Chinese elemental hand analysis, as he continues to explore new research. Mahabal has read thousands of hands and is in constant demand as a lecturer. He has hosted his own national cable show and written numerous articles on palmistry.

I bought these cards thinking there'd be the information on things like the love line, heart line, life line, etc. It is more an identity system of reading, which I guess you can use to foretell an in general destiny based on the personality characteristics read in your hands. Not about anything specific such as living a long life or being lucky in love. The palmistry of the lines in your hand in these cards are called things like the communication chakra or the comprehension chakra and also lists in general "key ideas" such as "concentration" or "introspection". It is titled as the human ley line system. The cartoon-like graphics aren't good. Also, some of the pictures looked very similar, and it was not immediately obvious how they differed when choosing that particular identifying mark. The first four cards are about being an earth hand, water hand, fire hand, or air hand, and their pictures at first look appear to be about the thickness of the fingers, and not the shape of the hand or finger length which is the explanation? There is further information about the differences on the back of the cards. So, if you're looking for information on things like a love line, heart line, or life line, these cards don't cover them. Nor was there any instruction on how to use any of these personality indicators to foretell the future. Just a blurb about developing potent inner realizations.

My husband is the one that is using these cards. He is really in to that. He likes them quite a bit and it is probably easier to use than a book in a lot of instances

I bought these cards due to a recommendation another buyer had written. They were right, they are entertaining! There are several cards in each of several categories, and they're absolutely delightful. I love them, and am using them as one of the things for people to explore while they're waiting their turn in group events or readings. Of course, if you're looking for serious and totally accurate information, you would want to explore more in-depth materials. Even then, I think you'd enjoy having this card set.

I have wanted to learn palmistry for a long time and I know that I have found a Master Palmist here with these cards. Vernon's books and these cards were created by someone who knows the Art and depth of Palm Reading. Buy these cards. They are beautiful and extremely informative. After playing with these cards you begin to get a foundational understanding of this ancient art and begin to understand the Hand. Which by the way is no easy task. But start anyway. And these cards are the best place to start!

Cards are fun and interesting. No regrets here!

The cards have a lot of helpful information and the quality of the card and thickness is very good.

cards are fun to read

Love it
